To whom it may concern,

I write with enthusiasm to assert the proficiency with which Jenn Logan assumes a position of leadership. I have had the pleasure of working under her direction for three years. In that time Jenn has navigated a team of care providers through an unprecedented pandemic. As uncertainty mounted, she provided security to her unit with steadfast critical thinking while balancing the quickly changing expectations of a challenged management.

Jenn leads by example. Rather than direct from an office, she frequents patient rooms and maintains a supportive presence on the floor. She is generous with her time and knowledge, while using an abundance of "us", "our", and "we". During the COVID-19 influx of patients, members of our unit were redeployed multiple times. Jenn has remained dedicated to the team that she has built by pressing for our reunion when physical and emotional reservoirs were depleted.

I consider myself fortunate to have the opportunity to learn under the tutelage of Jenn. Her relatability allows for diverse members to work together with common goals. She educates all in the clinical as well as administrative aspects of health care. The professionalism and humanity that Jenn provides has proven consistent, predictable, and trusted. Based on all of the qualities mentioned, that Jenn possesses, any endeavor would be fortunate to have her included as a proven success.

Sincerely,
Karen Vincent, RN
COVID-19 Coordinator
